

Findlay woman charged after drug search

A Findlay woman was arrested early Thursday after a police raid at 133 Woodley Terrace in Findlay, the Findlay Police Department reported.

Raven Merschman, 28, who lives at the address, was charged with possession of cocaine, a fifth-degree felony, following the raid.

At 5:34 a.m., the Hancock County METRICH Drug Task Force and the Findlay Police Department Emergency Response Team executed a search warrant at the Woodley Terrace residence. Officers found cocaine, marijuana, cash, a gun, drug paraphernalia and other items that indicated drug trafficking.

Additional drug-related charges are expected at the conclusion of the investigation, according to police.

Merschman was being held in the Hancock County jail Thursday.

Originally published in the Courier on October 19, 2018.